Ceramic Artists Association of Israel

7/1/1018

Dear Doug,

It is just over three weeks since we said goodbye to Anders Reuhwald and he went back to the U.S. to join his family for Christmas.

We enjoyed him very much on our annual symposium at Tel Hai. It is such an honour to host such a prominent clay artist. His wisdom and art work that he shared with us so willingly was a great source of inspiration and a definite eye opener for all the participants in this venue.

Artist of his magnitude are such a necessity to expose to our fellow artists' here in Israel, and we very much appreciate your organizing and bringing him to Israel.

We wish to extend our sincere Thank You to AIDA for all your efforts to make this possible and thereby enhance significantly the venue at Tel Hai.

Our thanks to Aviva Ben Sira for hosting him so generously while here in Israel and three cheers to Gun Marit Rosenstone and her students of the ceramic department at the Academic College at Tel Hai for collaborating and making all this possible.

Hoping to write you many letters as this in the future and wishing you all a very successful, fruitful and prosperous 2018.

All the best and thank you again,

Adi Pappo. Manager of the Ceramic Association

Yoella Sharon. Chairwoman of the Ceramic Association

Avner Singer. Symposium Coordinator.

Our guest Artists on the last day of the symposium. They collaborated on the stage and built a “gate” through which I was supposed to walk through. It was too low in the end.
